

TO LEAD HIS TROOPS AGAINST THE TURKS

KING GEORGE TO GO AT ONCE TO THE FRONT.

The Greek Forces, Driven From Larissa by the Turks, Will Rally at Pharsala—Powers Likely To Intervene To Stop the War This Week, It Is Said.

Athens, April 25, 3 p. m.—The Greek government this morning wired to its representatives abroad as follows: "On Friday after 6 o'clock in the evening, yielding to the enemy's great superior forces at Mati, our troops were obliged to fall back on Pharsala, abandoning Larissa, which is no longer tenable, owing to its position in the center of a plain. Our army is advancing toward Pentepegidia."

Washington, April 26.—The Turkish legation here has received the following dispatch from the minister of foreign affairs at Constantinople confirming the press dispatches of the fall of Larissa: "Larissa has been occupied to-day by the cavalry of the Ottoman army. The Hellenic troops fled in disorder, abandoning a great quantity of arms and ammunition."

KING TO COMMAND.

Ruler of Greece Will Go at Once to the Front.

London, April 26.—The Daily Chronicle's Athens correspondent says:

"King George means to go to the front and to make a decided stand at Pharsala, which was the line of defense advised by Gen. Vosseur and some members of his staff from the very beginning. The Greeks have destroyed the railway from Larissa to Volo. It is reported that the Greeks have arrived in the vicinity of Janina."

The Athens correspondent of the Times says:

"The news of the loss of Mati was received here during the small hours of Saturday morning. The premier and the minister of war were immediately summoned to the palace, where a council of the ministry sat until after daybreak. There was some difference of opinion, but it was finally decided, in view of the exhaustion of the Greek troops and numerical superiority of the Turks, to order a retreat to Pharsala."

"This decision was a wise one, for the defenses of Larissa are not strong, and the open plain favors the operations of the Turkish cavalry. The Greek stand will be made at Pharsala, which may once again become the scene of a memorable battle."

"The battle of Mati lasted all Friday, the Greeks defending their position with great intrepidity. Prince Constantine and Prince Nicholas were both continually under fire, and the latter greatly distinguished himself. The Turks strongly re-enforced, succeeded in breaking the Greek lines at 6 in the evening. The Turkish cavalry delivered repeated magnificent charges. The fighting continued into the night."

"It is presumed that Reveni will be evacuated forthwith and the whole frontier line abandoned. Gloom and despondency sit on every countenance. The only gleam of consolation is the report that Pantepegidia is outflanked and the way open to Janina. This, however, needs official confirmation."

"The government considers the troops already in Thessaly sufficient to maintain the position at Pharsala, while it is regarded as highly important to support Col. Manos in his march on Janina."

"A French cruiser has left Phalerum for Volo, where there is a panic at the approach of the Turks."

The Post's Athens correspondent says:

"A terrible panic took place Friday night during the retreat, which became a miserable rout, the Turkish cavalry using rifles, bayonets and revolvers indiscriminately. The correspondents of the London Times and of the Reuter Telegram Company were nearly killed. Mr. Williams, who represents the Daily Chronicle, remained at Tyrnavos. Other correspondents lost their sketches and their baggage."

The correspondent adds: "The gravity of the situation is not appreciated here."

A dispatch to the Times from Milouna, dated Saturday, says: "The Greeks abandoned Kritiri during the night and fled. The Turks are now marching on Larissa. Edhem Pasha will not allow his troops to enter the town, which, but little damaged is surrounded by a cordon of cavalry."

The Morning Post's correspondent at Arta says that the Greek fleet is bombarding Nicopolis, two hours' sail from Preveza.

The Athens correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says:

"The people are disappointed, and angry at the news of the defeat. The conduct of the Greek officers is above praise. The first to flee from the battlefield at Mati were driven back by Commander Mavriomachis, who shot several with his revolver. Fourteen guns were captured by the Turks, besides a vast quantity of ammunition. Pharsala must rely chiefly upon the strength of its natural position, for the bulk of the ammunition was sent to Larissa, where the Turks captured it."

POWERS MAY INTERVENE.

Opinion in London That the Eastern Tragedy Is Nearly Ended.

London, April 26.—What seems like ly to be the last week of the war has been entered upon. It is difficult from the tangle of conflicting telegrams to understand the exact position of affairs. Following the Greek defeat at Larissa, London opinion is almost unanimous that the end is in sight, and this view is probably shared by the powers, as they are already moving to intervene.

It is believed that intervention will first take the form of a suggestion of armistice, to which the combatants would not doubt agree. Since Saturday afternoon the British foreign office has been in close communication with the other members of the European concert. Great Britain suggesting that the time has now arrived for them to act. The French, German and Italian governments have already responded, offering to agree, though the German government adds as a condition that it will be necessary to exact a pledge from Greece to obey the mandate of Europe when this mandate is again given.

The British foreign office believes that Greece will give this pledge, as the disasters which have overtaken her have demonstrated that Turkey still possesses a formidable fighting machine, a fact which must have a sobering effect upon the popular demand for war at Athens and which will permit the Greek nation to climb down without disgrace, after a superb vindication of the personal courage of the Greek troops and a gratifying demonstration of Hellenic patriotism.

If the Greeks listen to reason and arguments pressed at Athens and Russia at Constantinople, it is not improbable that a decision will be reached by Tuesday, before which it is not supposed here that Edhem Pasha or Osman Pasha will have time to do more than to appear at Pharsala.

Bloody Battle at Mati.

London, April 26.—Friday was holy day for all worshippers of Mohammed. The Turkish hosts who confronted the Greek army in Thessaly and Bpirus invoked aid from Allah and the prophet and flung themselves with restless fury against the enemy all along the line.

Nothing human could withstand the mad, demonlike assaults which the Sultan's troops made, not once or twice, but half a score of times, upon every position held by their Christian foes. They attacked again and again the strong fort which the Greeks captured early in the week, until the crescent finally supplanted the cross above the fort. At other points of the frontier the bloody work went on, almost always, alas! to the undoing of King George's soldiers. There was method as well as fury and in it all cold, shrewd, masterful military genius. This also was chiefly on the side of the Turks.

Gloomy Outlook for Greeks.

Athens, April 26, noon.—It is useless to deny that a very gloomy outlook of the war prospects is taken here by the better informed. There are, however, no signs of panic. The city exhibits an attitude of dignified endurance, while many persons still show an unabated enthusiasm for fight. This symptom is particularly noticeable among the wounded now in Athens. Their one desire seems to be healed that they may rejoin the colors. Naturally this spirit is much fostered by the confirmation of the reports that the Turks have burned the Greek wounded in a church at Kurtzivillo. The Turks lighted fires under the bodies of wounded beasts. Many of the Greek wounded implored their comrades to kill them; others committed suicide.

Report the Prince Has Fled.

Athens, April 26.—Edhem Pasha makes his headquarters in Greece to-night. The coast road between Elasona and Milouna has been finished and thus a supply of provisions and ammunition is assured. The discipline of the army is excellent. It is rumored here that the Crown Prince Constantine has fled. The Turkish loss so far has not been great, only about 400 at the most."

Osman Pasha Reaches Salonica.

Salonica, April 26.—Osman Pasha arrived here Saturday evening and was received with great enthusiasm. He went forward at once to the scene of the conflict.

BLOCK'S CANADA'S SCHEME.

Embarrassing Obstacle to Discriminations in the Tariff.

Ottawa, Ont., April 26.—Public men in this country are in doubt as to the view which the British government will take on the reciprocal clause in the new tariff. The great objection which many Canadians hold to the government's tariff policy is that under the most favored nation clause in several treaties to which Great Britain is a party Canada will be compelled to accord to many countries chiefly Germany and Belgium, the same favor as to Great Britain without any equivalent therefor.

Two years ago in the British house of commons it was authoritatively announced that one British colony might discriminate in favor of one of her colonies without affecting existing treaties. But if a colony gave preference to the mother country, then the same might be claimed by Germany and Belgium.

Ladies of the Maccabees To Meet.

Lagrange, Ind., April 26.—The state convention of the Ladies of the Maccabees has been called to convene at Elkhart May 25. The organization has grown wonderfully, and the convention will bring together the largest delegate body of women ever assembled in Indiana.

THE FLOODS IN IOWA WASH HOMES AWAY

HEAVY PROPERTY DAMAGE AT OTTUMWA.

The River Breaks Over the Levee with Resistless Force, Deluging the Low Lands—Distress at Beatrice, Neb.—Louisiana Planters Dissatisfied with Relief Work.

Ottumwa, Iowa, April 26.—This city is flood-bound and in distress. The water is higher than it was in 1892.

One hundred families are homeless. The river broke over the levees and flooded the bottoms. The current carried several houses down stream. In some places the water is above the first story of the houses.

On the Burlington main line the track is impassable. Other tracks are being held by hundreds of men. The situation is critical. No attempt is being made to run trains. The river is still rising slowly.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 26.—The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, Iowa division, suffered at Walnut creek, west of Des Moines, where the road has a double track and two bridges. One bridge is in the creek and the abutment of the other is undermined. A serious accident, which might have been accompanied by heavy loss of life, was narrowly averted at this point. The Denver limited, consisting of an engine, two baggage cars, three day coaches, a diner and four sleepers, loaded with passengers, arrived in Des Moines at 9:30 o'clock Thursday night and at the same time the small bridge went down with a crash. Not more than ten minutes' time had been consumed in making the run to this city. Water was running over the rails when the train passed over the bridge. At least twenty-five feet of water was running under the bridge at the time.

SITUATION IN LOUISIANA.

Planters Are Still Dissatisfied—Levees in Fair Condition.

New Orleans, La., April 26.—The Louisiana planters in the overflowed districts are still dissatisfied over the proposed relief and distribution of rations among their employees by the United States relief office, and believe that it will do a great deal of harm. Relief may be necessary in time, but they think that the government ought not to feed their employees until it is asked to do so by the parish through the police juries or commissioners. The planters say they will feed their negroes as long as they are financially able to do so, although the negroes are idle. They do this in order to prevent them wandering away.

The Tensas and Black rivers are rising rapidly on account of the Biggs crevasse, and it is hoped that these streams will carry off a large part of the crevasse water and reduce the extent of the flood.

The levee boards have ordered the levees raised everywhere at least two feet. The railroads have also prepared for the emergency which they think may arise at any moment and each road traversing the alluvial lands has ready a train loaded with material, sacks and earth.

Only two very dangerous points are reported: Bonne Carre, forty miles above New Orleans, where the levee has been soft and in bad condition ever since the high water began, and Corinne, where there was an ugly wash-out. The engineers, however, believe that both points can be saved with a little care.

People Taken from Roofs.

Beatrice, Neb., April 26.—The Big Blue continues to cover a large part of Beatrice. The water has not receded an inch since the cloudburst of Saturday. The river is three-fourths of a mile wide and twelve feet above low-water mark. Scores of people were rescued from the roofs of their houses and trees, and are being cared for at the city hall. Hundreds of homes are submerged by their roofs, and another foot of water will sweep them from their foundations.

Reports from up the river are meager, as telegraph and telephone service is broken, but, while the river is stationary now, it is expected that a still further rise will occur. All train service is stopped.

Great Rise at Quincy.

Quincy, Ill., April 26.—Eight inches more were added to the height of the Mississippi flood Sunday and the stage is now 17 feet 7 inches. A rise of a few inches more will close the big mills and factories on the river front. All the steamboats in this harbor were in service, taking excursion parties to the farms of the submerged bottoms to view the damage wrought by the flood. The steamers follow the wagon roads as channels through the tree tops and were able to go from seven to ten miles inland.

Relief for Oakville, Iowa.

Burlington, Iowa, April 26.—A carload of food supplies and clothing was sent to the flood sufferers at Oakville, Iowa, Saturday, and distributed. They were badly needed by the people of that district, which is submerged, many people having to camp on levees and knolls.

Alexandria, Mo., Is Inundated.

Warsaw, Ill., April 26.—The Mississippi and Des Moines rivers went over the embankments at three different places and inundated Alexandria, Mo.

CONGRESS TO REST DURING THIS WEEK

NOTHING TO BE DONE AT WASHINGTON.

Both Houses of the National Legislature Agree To Suspend Business During the Great Monumental Ceremonies at New York—Met Today and Adjourned Again.

Washington, April 26.—There will not be a quorum in the senate during the present week, owing to the absence of a large number of senators in New York, in attendance upon the ceremonies over General Grant's tomb. Consequently no business of importance will be transacted.

Probably a majority of the senators desire to adjourn from Monday until Thursday and from Thursday again until Monday, without transacting any business of general moment, and this program is likely to be followed.

If the wish of the republican members of the finance committee is acceded to the tariff bill will be reported Thursday, but it is most probable that this will be postponed until next week. The work of preparing for the organization of the senate committees will proceed informally.

Under the arrangement made on Friday the house will transact no business this week. The house met formally to-day and adjourned until Thursday, when an adjournment will be taken until Monday.

ADMIRAL MEADE IS VERY WEAK

His Physicians, However, Believe He Will Recover.

Washington, April 26.—The condition of Rear Admiral Richard W. Meade, retired, who has been ill here for some days, is not so favorable. About ten days ago he was operated upon for appendicitis. Until Sunday an improvement was noticeable. Sunday afternoon the admiral had a chill, which left him in a weakened condition. From this there was some rally during the evening. He is very weak and takes liquid nourishment, but if no new complications arise his physicians believe the admiral may recover.

Gold Democrats Hold a Conference.

New York, April 26.—An informal conference of the representatives of the national democracy from several states, including a number of the gold democracy men from this city and Brooklyn, was held Sunday afternoon in the Reform Club. The object of the meeting was to ascertain the state of organization throughout the country and the means that are being taken to preserve it. No call for a future conference was decided on, that being left to the national committee.

Trouble for Great Britain.

London, April 26.—The Times correspondent at Paris has been informed that the object of Prince Hohenlohe's visit to M. Hanotaux, the French foreign minister, was to discuss the situation in the Transvaal, and to persuade France, and through her, Russia, to support Germany in resisting Great Britain's imperious attitude toward the Boers in France on the Egyptian question.

Turners of Three States Meet.

Evansville, Ind., April 26.—The Turners' societies of Indiana, three of Chicago and those of Louisville met here Sunday in convention, with 100 delegates. New officers were elected as follows: First speaker, Max Stern, Chicago; second speaker, J. W. Loeper, Indianapolis; secretary, Ernest Wilkom, Evansville. The next meeting will be held in Danville, Ill.

Funeral of W. S. Holman.

Aurora, Ind., April 26.—The funeral of William S. Holman, who has represented the fourth district in congress many years, was very largely attended here Sunday. The citizens' committee, council, Bar Association and other organizations were in the procession to the cemetery in bodies.

Holman's Son May Be the Nominee.

Indianapolis, April 26.—Governor Mount will call a special election in the fourth congressional district this week to elect a successor to Mr. Holman. The election will probably be held May 15, though the time has not been definitely decided. Both parties will call conventions as soon as the order for the election is issued. There is a pronounced sentiment in the district in favor of the senior son of the deceased representative.

GRAND ARMY ENCAMPMENT TWO RIVER STRIKE STILL UNSETTLED

Arrangements for the Meeting at Galesburg, Ill.

Galesburg, Ill., April 26.—The arrangements for the Grand Army State encampment, which opens here on Wednesday, May 5, are completed and the prospects are that the attendance will be the largest of any encampment yet held in Illinois. Five organizations will hold meetings simultaneously—the Illinois G. A. R., the Illinois Department Women's Relief Corps, the Sons of Veterans, the Ladies of the Illinois G. A. R., and the Daughters of Veterans.

The Grand Army will be represented by 1,260 delegates, including the representatives from the 650 posts, the total membership of which is now about 27,000. The W. R. C. will have a convention 300 or 400 strong, representing a membership of 9,000 in the state. The Sons of Veterans with a membership of 2,000 in the state will be at least 100 strong in their meeting. The ladies of the G. A. R. expect 300 to 400. The Daughters of Veterans are not so strong, but will take measures to more thoroughly organize the state.

Information has already been received that outside of the delegates many posts will send large bodies of visitors. The citizens of Galesburg have made the most elaborate preparations to entertain the guests. It is estimated that 15,000 to 20,000 comrades will be here.

Storms in Indian Territory.

Eufaula, I. T., April 26.—A series of cloudbursts, heavy wind and rainstorms occurred in and around Eufaula all of Saturday night and extended over about 100 square miles of territory. The rain fell in torrents, and was the heaviest for fifty years. Farm houses, fences and crops were washed away to an extent amounting to a calamity. Many trains are tied up at this point and there is a series of washouts for twenty miles that are impassable for the present.

The damage to crops is beyond estimate, nearly every acre of ground for many miles in all directions will have to be replanted, and many farms are entirely under water. So far no news of loss of life has been received.

—Another conference between the strikers and the state board of arbitration and the owners of the factory were held this morning, but no settlement was reached. McKinley to Visit Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 26.—It was stated Sunday by Chairman Bruce of the local executive committee having charge of the arrangements for the National Educational Association convention, to be held here in July, that in all probability President McKinley would be one of the speakers at the gathering. A number of prominent educators called on Mr. McKinley in regard to the matter and received assurances which make them believe he will accept their invitation to deliver an address during the convention.

Bank Scandal at Superior.

Superior, Wis., April 26.—Charges of a serious nature are said to have been filed with the United States district attorney at Madison by Comptroller Eckles against ex-President Homer T. An audience of between 2,500 and 3,000 people packed the house. Addresses were made by several secretaries of the international committee, under the leadership of Mr. Mott. Mr. Gailey, a champion football player of Princeton college, and one of the brightest students, spoke of his determination for the last five years to go as a foreign missionary. Three hundred dollars addition to the $11,000 already given was pledged for special work among young men in foreign lands.

Building Trades May Strike.

Chicago, April 26.—Four unions affiliated with the Building Trades Council are preparing to make a demand for an increase in wages May 1, and a general sympathetic strike may result. The unions to lay down their tools on that date are the plumbers, bridge and structural iron workers, hodcarriers and building laborers and junior steamfitters. These unions alone comprise a membership of over 8,000, and as the Building Trades Council has granted its support, a much larger number may be involved.

Gone to New York.

Washington, April 26.—Two special trains left Washington on different railways this morning, each carrying a company of distinguished passengers bound for New York to participate in the Grant ceremonies. President McKinley was on one and Vice-President Hobart on the other. This precaution is taken to avoid the possibility of the death of both officers in case of a railway accident. The representatives of the senate and house traveled with Vice-President Hobart.

Freight Wreck in Iowa.

Mason City, Iowa, April 26.—There was a big wreck on the Iowa Central near Steamboat Rock at an early hour Sunday morning. THE WORDS HEARD IN LOCAL PULPITS

REV. MR. RAWLINS AT COURT STREET CHURCH.

Lake Mills Pastor Preaches on "True Life," and "Life's Summersaults"—The Great Question Has Been, "What Is the True End of Existence?"—Other Sermons.

The Rev. Mr. Rawlins of Lake Mills occupied the pulpit at the Court Street M. E. church yesterday and delivered two excellent sermons. His morning topic was "True Life," and was based on scripture in Matthew's gospel, "Whoever will save his life shall lose it, but whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, shall find it."

The speaker said that the great question of the ages had been "What is the true end of existence."

The answers have been as various as the schools of thought that have dealt with it, but it was reserved for the lowly man of Nazareth to give the true answer. This great truth of the Lord Jesus has been frequently perverted. In some ages a life of torture and needless sacrifices has been the interpretation. Paul in the early history of the church and Washington in early times, belong to the class of heroes who have been elevated and purified by this sublime definition.

Sacrifice, helpfulness, are the great aims of true life. To this end men and women should get ready to live. A young man may fulfill with zeal and possess a burning desire to expound great truths, but he lacks knowledge and mental equipment, he must spend ten years buried with books and then he will be prepared to effectively propound great truths.

A weak woman physically may be a temperance enthusiast. She may neglect her home in her zeal and wear out and find an early grave at forty, with failure written over her tomb and her children moral wrecks, because of a mother's neglect.

Too much interest in others and neglect of self is a great mistake. The men who endow colleges and great philanthropic enterprises are the men who carefully guard their own interests in the accumulation of great wealth.

On the other hand we may spend so much time on ourselves as to affect the welfare of those about us. In many senses we are our brothers' keepers, and no intelligent citizen can shirk the responsibility. Society demands it. Morality demands it. The state demands it. Too many men are too pure to take part in the caucus and primary, and as a result bad government frequently prevails.

The right kind of purity is never wrapped up in a napkin. That kind of saving is always a loss. Christ went up to Jerusalem to meet death, voluntarily sacrificing His life for humanity.

There are no short cuts and but one royal road to excellence in any department of life, and that is by way of loyalty and sacrifice.

The freedom that we enjoy in America today was born in the spirit of heroism on the Mayflower.

To lift men up to the skies some men must go down in the dust.

Let us get out of ourselves, and begin to win somebody and then when God sends his chariots for us a welcome reception will await us on the shores of eternity.

The evening topic was, "Life's Summersaults."

AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
Rev. Robert C. Denison Speaks on "The Way of Life."

At the Congregational church, the pastor Rev. Robert C. Denison spoke on the "The Way of Life." We must hold fast the simplicity of the Christian life. Many volumes have been written, many sermons preached explaining this mystery. But must not this gospel which was proclaimed to all the world be so meagrely simple thing.

The way of life is not the doing of some strange unusual thing. The path of salvation must be one in which all may walk.

One of the simplest things in the world is a want. It is found in the humblest forms of unconscious life. Here lies the beginning of the way of life. It is simply this, the want of God. When a man's soul cries out, "I cannot be fed with bread alone, give me God." Then here in this simple craving he begins to walk the way of life.

The want of a better life is the first step, he will get it, is the second, quite as simple, quite as necessary. The one need is power to take what knowledge we have already and work it out in life. We do not know more but a stronger will do as well as we know.

We may judge the quality of our Christian life not by the ability to state clearly its great doctrines. As by the answer we are able to give to this twofold question, do I want God, and is my will bent on being true to Him?

The pastor spoke in the evening on the "Cloud of Witnesses."

The large choir sang at both services and their music was an inspiring part of the worship.

SERMON DEALT WITH THE BIBLE

Rev. V. E. Southworth Declares for "All That Is Good and True."

At All Souls church Rev. Southworth spoke last evening on "The Bible"—the third talk in the series on "My Life Creed," and said, in part:

"I regard the bible with profound reverence, as a book which with great truth reveals the heart-workings of a race; which shows how through hundreds of years they tried to understand the hidden meanings of life; and how they came gradually to a truly beautiful and inspiring conception of God as the spiritual All Father.

"I believe in the bible; believe in it as the thing it is—a natural and reasonable narrative of the natural and reasonable development of a great people.

"I believe in an intelligent use of the bible as a book of inspiring and suggestive thought.

"But it is very evident that the best things may be wrongly used. The Bible may be misunderstood. People may idolize it; may make a fetish of it, may claim for it a supernatural quality which it nowhere claims for itself.

Another Bible.
"There are other bibles, the Jews were not the only people who have lifted their thoughts toward God; who have tried to find the highway of truth and righteousness. Other nations have left records of their religious development. There have been heart histories and soul struggles that have found their way into verbal expression in all times and lands. Wonderful spiritual utterances; superb prayers and songs of praise; poems; moralizing; Sermons, all over the world since man began to hunger for the higher life, his deepest thought has burst forth into noble speech. The literature of the world is rich with religious thought; with inspiration and revelation for human guidance.

"I believe in the Bible and in all Bibles. I believe in everything that is good and true wherever I find it—in whatever language or by whatever hand it was written. I will not be ungenerous towards any book. Or allow myself to love one so madly as not to see any truth in others. Whatever word comes to me with power to lift my thought and my desires towards God I will reverently accept as sacred scripture. If it be some hoary inscription copied from the walls of an Egyptian tomb; if it be a wise saying from the Confucian book; an utterance of Buddhist wisdom; if some Homer winged word; some counseling of Socrates or Epictetus, if some formula of Kant or Spencza or Spencer; if some brilliant page of Goethe or Shakespeare or Emerson, if it be a simple poem of the present world; or some heartsome sentence spoken by a friend; whatever word it is that inspires me to live a nobler and a truer life I will accept as the Word of God, inspired because it inspires, true because it helps to make and keep me true.

"I cull from every faith and race the best, And bravest soul for counsellor and friend."

What Is True and Good.

"Whatever speaks to my mind and heart, to my reason and conscience, I will listen to and welcome.

"The thing is true and good if it makes me true and good; if it arouses my moral nature, quickens my sympathies, strengthens my courage, and fortifies my manhood.

"I refuse to shut out of my life any truth no matter what source it may come. I know by its power over my own nature, by what it does for me, whether it is a word of God or not.

"All I ask of the Bible or any other book that is claimed to be sacred is that it shall justify its claim by its effects upon the lives of men. The test of a truth is not logic but life. And we cannot afford to lose any truth that may enrich our lives. Therefore we ought to believe in everything that is good and true.

DR. HODGE ON "PURIFICATION."

Baptist Pastor Spoke of the Making of People Clean.

Dr. Hodge's text was in Isaiah I-25. His subject was "God Purifying his People." God's dealing with men is to purify and make right. He is like the refiner's fire. The refiner watches the metal in the fire until he can see the reflected image of his own face, he then takes it out. This is an illustration of God's dealing with his people. Men are sinful and need refining. The 101st psalm is a picture of what the text contemplates.

Christ gave an illustration of this refining process by his dealing with his disciples. They were men given to the various kinds of evil but he trained them and prepared them for the future responsibilities. The Holy Spirit took hold of them and they were different men.

The Book of Acts tells us of the continuation of this purifying process. Those who tried to deceive for personal benefit, were blotted out or put away. The church must be purified.

The Epistles also tell of the purifying process still carried on by God. The object is to save the man. His sin must be put away, but the man saved.

In Revelations he told the process of purification of the seven churches of Asia.

The most important part of this subject is the personal dealings of God with ourselves. Go back in your own experience and see how God has led you to part company from a bad temper, a lying tongue, or some other evil habit or action. This is God's method of dealing with us. Now if God is trying to purify me I ought to be a worker with him and do all I can to put away the dross. I ought not to complain about the purifying process for it is for my good. God is not my enemy but my loving Father. Let us be intent about accomplishing the end for which this purifying process is given; that we shall gladly accept all that he gives us for our good.

In the evening the Y. P. S. C. E. was led by Mr. J. F. Judin, the subject being, "What Is True Liberty and

SICKLES WILL PLAY WITH N. W. U. TEAM

THE PROTESTED PITCHER WAS HERE YESTERDAY.

Says It Is Easy To Make Charges, But Another Thing To Prove Them—Authorities Are Investigating—Beloit College Nine Could Not Solve His Delivery.

Arthur Sickles the ball player who pitches for the Northwestern University team, spent Sunday here. Some of the college teams object to Sickles on the ground that he is a professional. In speaking of the objections made Sickles said that it was one thing to make statements but another thing to prove them. Sickles will play with the Northwestern team through this season, the charges made against him are now being investigated by the proper authorities.

The team of Beloit college and the Northwestern university played their first actual college game, Saturday, in Beloit, and unusual interest was manifested over the work of the respective teams. As far as the Beloit men were concerned, their capabilities were in doubt, especially those of the batteries. The result of the game was a score of 7 to 2 in favor of the visitors, who put Sickles in the box. Beloit had nothing to protest his pitching on, and so accepted the situation with good grace.

It was largely Sickles' game. He had most of the batters just where he wanted them, and few were able to solve his delivery. The game was one of the most interesting ever witnessed in that city, and the college is highly pleased over the game, notwithstanding the result. Sickles was not without good support, and many think the Northwestern team the best the visitors ever brought to Beloit. Mills was in the box for Beloit. He surprised everybody and gave promise to become a prominent pitcher. Fred Jeffris made three hits off of Sickles' pitching, and scored one of the runs. The score:

Northwestern.....0 0 2 0 4 0 1 7
Two base hits—Meyers, Miller, Sabin. Stolen bases—McMaster, Meyers, Struthers, Brown Sickles, Murphy, Mackey, Laws. Hit by pitched balls—By Sickles 1; by Mills 1. Struck out—By Sickles 9; by Mills 4. Wild pitches—by Sickles 1. Time of game—1:55. Umpire—Mills of Fort Atkin on.

Janesville Man a Member of the Wisconsin University Team.

The Milwaukee Sentinel prints sketches of the members of the University of the Wisconsin base ball team, and has this to say of Chester Brewer: "Brewer of Janesville is a sophomore, but this is the first year he has played on the team. He will be remembered as one of the star ends of the football team of last year. On the baseball team he is at present playing center field, where he has done some excellent work especially in the Page Fence Giant game when he made some phenomenal catches. He is furthermore a good base runner and a heavy hitter."

W. W. COLLINS IS PROMOTED.

Will Soon Be In Charge of the Chicago Division of C. M. & St. P.

William W. Collins, superintendent of the Prairie du Chien division of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, will succeed Jerome B. Cable, as superintendent of the Chicago division of the road, which is the line from Milwaukee to Chicago. The advancement of Supt. Collins was decided upon in Chicago, and he will enter on the duties of his new position today, when his headquarters will be removed from Milwaukee to Chicago.

Mr. Collins is the third son of W. W. Collins, the veteran railroad worker who has been agent of the St. Paul company at Oconomowoc since 1855. He entered the railroad service, as a telegraph operator for the St. Paul company, in the '60s. He was advanced in the service from operator, superintendent's clerk and assistant division superintendent to superintendent of the Northern and Prairie du Chien divisions of the road. He has had charge of the latter division since 1891. The Chicago division is considered the best and most important in the St. Paul system, and who the successor to Mr. Cable would be has been a subject of much speculation in railway circles, here and in Chicago, for several days. The new superintendent is a brother of General Superintendent W. G. Collins of the St. Paul, and of S. J. Collins, general superintendent of the Wisconsin Central.

It was learned Saturday afternoon that the changes contemplated in the operating department of the St. Paul railway, brought about as a result of the resignation of Mr. Cable, will result in the advancement of E. X. Hastings, superintendent of terminals in Milwaukee, and Herman B. Earling, trainmaster of the La Crosse division. It is learned that Mr. Hastings will succeed Mr. Collins as superintendent of the Prairie du Chien division, and that Mr. Earling will become superintendent of the terminals, succeeding Mr. Hastings. All these changes will be officially announced within a day or two, from the Chicago general offices.

Mr. Hastings, who is an experienced railroad man, came to the Milwaukee and St. Paul system five years ago, and was made superintendent of the terminals. He has had entire charge of the operation of all trains inside the city of Milwaukee, on all divisions. He was for some years employed in various official positions on eastern roads.

PLAY "BELOW ZERO" TONIGHT

Rentfrow's Jolly Pathfinders To Open Myers Grand Engagement.

Abounding in fun of a refined nature, brilliant with catchy music, songs and dances, overflowing with mirth, wit and melody, elaborately set, staged, costumed and enacted by a superior company, is "Below Zero." Rentfrow's celebrated farce which has created such a furore the past season, is to be the opening bill of the Jolly Pathfinders at the opera house tonight. Who that has seen The Jolly Pathfinders has not roared at their eccentricities, wit and humor, all of which to a degree belong to the play, but would be as nothing in any other hands than of these able artists, who couldn't be anything else but funny if they tried, and it seems as if they had condensed the amusement of a whole lifetime in their repertoire of musical comedies and dramas. Rentfrow's famous metropolitan band and solo orchestra will be a strong feature of the show, and they will remain one week, presenting an entirely new programme, every evening. Prices will be 10, 20, 30 cents. Family matinee Saturday.

BOYS CATCH FISH WITH RAKES

Boys Capture Many in the Shallow Water at Monterey.

Fully two hundred boys with rakes in their hands, spent Sunday at Monterey, capturing fish. At the foot of the dam a long row of stones was placed in the shallow water so as to form a sort of trap. The fish that came over the dam found their way into this trap, and the boys would rake them out onto the end. An old fisherman says that hundreds of fish have been caught in this manner during the past few days.

SUNDAY'S SERMON SUBJECTS.

How is it Won?" Instead of the regular service, a missionary concert was held, a very interesting program consisting of readings and songs, was given. There was a large attendance at both services.

REV. EDWARD H. PENCE'S SERMON

The Presbyterian Pastor Speaks of the "Character of Paul"

At the Presbyterian church yesterday morning, Rev. E. H. Pence chose for his subject "The Character of Paul," taking for his text these words of Paul: "But thou hast fully known my doctrine, manner of life, purpose, faith, long suffering, charity, patience, persecutions, and afflictions," 2nd Timothy 3:10.

How much sweeter, and how much more easily understood is a letter from a dear friend, one whom we know, than a letter from a stranger. And it does seem that this book of Acts comes along here ahead of Romans and Corinthians simply to let us into the heart of the man who wrote those letters. For he who has read this book comes to its end with a new love—a love for what we must own to be the most remarkable man whose career and character history has saved to us. True it is that Christ is the object glass in a telescope of revelation without which there could have been no vision of heavenly things, yet it was the intense character and conviction of a Paul that what Christ brought to the world was brought on down to a good many people who became Christians in that day.

Here are some of the letters which he wrote and we can trace the personality of the man therein if we are studying them and we can understand the meaning only as we understand the man. Paul intimates that his speech was impeded, at least that some men at some time had made fun of his personal characteristics, and yet Paul did not care. We can imagine a man fired and aflame as he was, thinking and feeling at the rate of about fifty miles an hour, and only able to talk and write about thirty miles an hour.

In studying his letters to the Philippians attention is rested by the fervor of his love. In speaking about a young man, Epaphroditus, who had been sick calls him brother, tells how sickness had menaced his very life, and writes, "Y & t God have mercy not only on him, but on me lest I should have sorrow upon sorrow." Now there is the spirit of child-like simplicity incarnate in the noblest specimen of manhood to be found in history. Loving solicitude for others brought Paul face to face with his own great thought of God's care for him and for all men.

The Christian Endeavor meeting was given up to reports of the Edgerton convention and the Presbyterian meeting at Baraboo.

There will be a business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society in the church parlors this evening, after teachers' meeting.

FACTS WITH POINTS.

Every One of These Statements Absolutely True.

Mr. A. W. Sharper, 61 Prospect St., Indianapolis, Ind., says: "Gratitude prompts me to write that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets completely cured me of Nervous Dyspepsia from which I had suffered for the last four years. I had tried many remedies without results, but am now cured and have gained in flesh, sleep well and have none but words of praise for Stuart's Tablets."

Mrs. Sarah A. Skeels, Lynnville, Iowa: "It has been six months since I took Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and am fully cured. Have not had a particle of distress or difficulty since. This is in the face of the fact that I had suffered from stomach trouble for twenty-five years and was pronounced incurable by the doctors."

James Newmestres, Eau Claire, Wis., says: "Two 50 cent packages of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets did me more good than any remedy I had ever before tried. They hit the spot with me and I once more have an appetite and can eat what I please without fear of distress and bloating afterward."

Dr. Harlan relates the case of Miss Helen Sholes, of Nashville, who was cured of dyspepsia and gained 18 pounds in weight after suffering from stomach trouble for eight years. The doctor uses them in all stomach troubles because they are not a secret patent medicine, but contain pure pepsin, Diastase, fruit acids and valuable digestives, which digest the food whether the stomach works or not, gives it the needed rest and a cure is the natural result.

Dr. Jennison says nine-tenths of disease is caused by indigestion and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest and best cure, because they are not a secret patent medicine, but contain the valuable digestive principles needed by every weak stomach and a whole box would not hurt a child, being absolutely harmless.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents per package.

Send to Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., for little book on symptoms and treatment of stomach troubles.

THE MAKER

Of Devilish Crabs Asks a Question.

The following correspondence between Mr. McMenamin, the well known producer of hermetically sealed sea food, of Hampton, Va., and the Postum Cereal Co., may interest some, as it touches a point upon which there have been some queries:

HAMPTON, Va.—Postum Cereal Co., Battle Creek, Mich.—Gentlemen: Replying to your letter, I beg to say that your health food coffee has a flavor, so far as I can remember of the best coffee, and this coffee flavor was so pronounced that I suspect that coffee was mixed with the other grains. I served it to some of my guests without telling them what it was, and they pronounced it very excellent coffee. One of them was a coffee drinker who had to have it three times a day. I would like to know if there is any coffee in it. Very truly yours, James McMenamin.

"BATTLE CREEK, Mich.—Mr. James McMenamin, Hampton, Va.—Dear Sir: We have your esteemed favor of the 28th, and in reply to your inquiry as to the ingredients, will say that we are willing to stake every penny we can get together that Postum not only does not contain coffee, but that it is composed strictly and entirely of pure cereals of the field, the greater portion being the various parts of wheat. It took us nearly a year of experimenting to produce Postum, the health coffee. It is an easy matter to make a weak sort of drink from browned rye, wheat or malt, but to produce a liquid from the cereals that has the color, taste and nourishing properties of our present product, taxed our best energies and that of one of the most expert analytical chemists in America.

"We felt a desire to demonstrate the principle that man's drink at meals should be made from grains, without any sort of adulteration or chemical preparation, aside from simple cooking. It may be further explained that in order to produce Postum, the cereals are cooked in different ways, and the final mixing of the proper proportions is what gives us the desired result.

"There is no possible argument that can be brought forward that will raise the question for a moment regarding the fixed fact of the healthful, nourishing and fattening properties of the cereals furnished by the all-wise Creator for man's natural use. We thank you for your kind letter. Yours respectfully, Postum Cereal Co., Lim."

There is but one genuine original Postum Cereal Food Coffee, with a multitude of imitations offered as "just as good."

PASS THE SLEEPING CAR BILL

Senator Whitehead Pushes the Measure Along at Last Minute.

After the railway lobby left Madison for home Saturday, a message from the assembly brought to the senate Mr. Davidson's bill to provide for the taxation of sleeping car companies, and Mr. Davidson followed it into the chamber. He had chased the bill out of an assembly committee, and it was passed under suspension of the rules in the house, although the committee had reported it without recommendation. Mr. Whitehead took up the cause in the senate. He said the bill came late, but it had been a long time pending and was along the line of increased taxation of similar corporations which the legislature had provided for this year. He told how the St. Paul company, which owned its own sleeping cars, paid taxes amounting to $3,300 yearly upon their earnings, and how the Wagner and Pullman companies paid only about $450 each to the state. He offered an amendment to strengthen the bill which nearly killed it owing to the fact that it compelled new action by the assembly. Mr. Whitehead followed his argument with a motion to suspend rules and pass the bill but Mr. McMullen objected. The rules were suspended with only Mr. McMullen voting no, several senators maintaining a discreet silence. On the question of concurrence in the bill, the roll call went through and Messrs. Austin, Mills and Sollday refrained from voting. The chair ordered the names of the senators who were present and not voting, called again, and the result was 12 to 12, a tie. President Baensch voted aye, and the bill was concurred in.

GAME COCK ATTACKS THE BOY

Little Ithamar Sloan Narrowly Escapes Serious Injury.

A game rooster attacked Ithamar Sloan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Sloan, and cut the little fellow's face above and below the eye. The boy's screams were heard, and when the family hastened to his assistance, they thought his eye, which was filled with blood, had been put out. The injuries were not serious however. H. H. McKinney blew the vicious bird's head off with a shot gun, and with the serving of chicken salad, the "incident closed."

THE VALLEY OF THE SHADOW.

Hattie Louverna Gower.

Hattie Louverna Gower, the eleven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gower, 162 Pearl street, died at 8:30 o'clock this morning, of brain fever. Besides her parents, she leaves two brothers and one sister to mourn her loss. She was a member of the Congregational Sunday school, and was popular with all who knew her. The parents will have the sympathy of all in their bereavement. The funeral will be held from the home at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Ambrose Ingham.

Ambrose Ingham died at his home at Beloit on Saturday morning, aged seventy-seven years. Mr. Ingham had long been a resident of Beloit, having emigrated from Manchester, England, in 1849. He was a blacksmith by trade, and is said to have been the most skillful workman in Beloit. He was the father of Mrs. L. S. Hillsbrandt of this city.

A Novel Institution.

The Research Publishing Association incorporated under the laws of this state is the most unique business enterprise that has ever come to our notice, both in name and the manner in which the business is conducted. The association has several departments all of which are of great interest to every retail merchant for the reason they are immediately benefited without having to sign contracts or take any chances. The plan demonstrates the onward march of modern business methods and is worth investigation. J. A. Dennison, of this city, is southern Wisconsin agent.

French Dimity and Organdie Sale.

The kind of goods you have been paying 25 and 35 cents a yard for, we are going to sell at 19 cents a yard. Patterns are all new 1897 effects. We can afford to sell imported organdies and dimities at 19 cents because we sell them for cash and at the same time gain friends and customers. We have just received fifty new pieces of these goods, and this is an excellent opportunity, which you will not always have. It is a fact that we are selling dry good of all kinds from 10 to 20 per cent less than any house in the city. People tell us this every day. Bort, Bailey & Co.

A Miller's Song.

A sk for "Pearl White", its merits try; S'trictly pure, none finer, you can buy; K'ing of Janesville, "Pearl White" reigns supreme.

For in all homes, this favorite Flour is seen; O'n its merits "Pearl White Flour" is sold; R'ich in gluten, worth its weight in gold.

Pearl White an enviable reputation has won, E'xtolled alike by Housekeepers everyone; A sk for "Pearl White" and none other take; R'emember best bread and biscuits it will make.

Look where you will go where you may.

Without a doubt "Pearl White" leads today, W'ith happy healthy homes bear in mind; I need you see where "Pearl White" you find; T'o "J. M. Shackleton" wholesale orders send; E'njoy the best, why money for poor flour spend.

GREEK PRIEST HERE TO TIE THE KNOT

REV. FATHER RAYOA COMES FROM CHICAGO.

Man Who Gives the Chicago Greeks His Blessing Before They Left For the Front, Will Unite Two Local Syrians in Marriage at St. Mary's Church Tomorrow.

Abraham Frenn, aged twenty-four years, and Miss Jose Schillat, aged eighteen years, both native born Syrians, will be united in the holy bonds of matrimony tomorrow morning at St. Mary's church.

Rev. Father Sayoa of St. John's Greek Catholic church at Chicago, will perform the ceremony, which will be preceded by mass. The intention was to hold the wedding today, but Father Sayoa informed them that mass must first be sung, hence the change in program.

Mrs. Frank Schillat of this city, and Shabel Bohakel of Chicago, both Syrians, will act the part of bridesmaid and best man. Immediately following the ceremony the happy couple, accompanied by a number of the Syrian women, will be driven to the Hickory street home of Mr. and Mrs. Schillat, but the men, with the exception of the groom and best man, will walk to and from the church.

The Bride Is Pretty

The bride is a handsome young lady. She is but eighteen years old, has a dark complexion and possesses a pair of coal black eyes. She will be attired in a handsome brown figured silk gown, made in the latest American fashion, with large puffed sleeves.

The happy groom is a Chicago dealer in Syrian wares, and is said by his countrymen, to be "husky." In spite of the fact that the groom has been in this country but two years and the bride six, they can both speak the English language fluently.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception will be given at the Hickory street home of Mr. and Mrs. Schillat. Refreshments will be served and while the women chat the men, with Syrian cigarettes, will pass the time away in smoking. Mr. and Mrs. Frenn will take no wedding trip, but will go to housekeeping in this city.

Romance In The Case.

The story of their courtship and marriage begins back in the days when they were mere children in that far away land across the deep blue sea. They played together then, and quarreled and made up the same as Americans do, in spite of the fact that they were both under ten years of age.

Miss Schillat then became tired of mother country, and, accompanied by her brother and a few friends, sailed for America. A correspondence was kept up, and Mr. Frenn decided to come to the United States—and finally Janesville, where tomorrow morning, he will be wed to the girl of his choice.

Rev. Father Sayoa is the Greek priest who gave the Greeks who left Chicago to fight the Turks, his blessing, before they left for New York. He will be the guest of Rev. Father R. J. Roche while in the city.

READY FOR THEIR OPENING.

Hall, Sayles and Fifield Put Finishing Touches On Their Jewelry Store.

In their new store, Hall, Sayles & Fifield are entertaining their friends. They are doing it informally for the first few days as the store will not be ready for the formal opening until Wednesday.

Wednesday it will be seen in all its beauty.

The oldest jewelry store in the state, it may be declared, now, to be the handsomest and best adapted to its purpose. Skillful designing is responsible for this—skillful designing and the careful adaptation of means to ends that a knowledge of every detail of the jewelry business makes possible.

It may not be known to all Janesville that this city has the oldest jewelry store in the state. When Webb & Lee opened their doors in the stand now occupied by R. W. King & Son forty-one years ago, other jewelry stores had been established to be sure in one or two cities in the state but not one of these has lasted through all these years. The firm of Webb & Lee—J. A. Webb and P. A. Lee—thrived and the business grew. P. A. Lee retired in 1860 and the firm was then J. A. Webb & Co., until 1869, when A. F. Hall became a partner and the style was changed to the form familiar in Janesville for sixteen years, of Webb & Hall.

It was changed to Hall & Farnsworth in 1885, and in 1887 became A. F. Hall & Co., the present firm name. Hall, Sayles & Fifield, having been adopted late in 1896, the firm members being A. F. Hall, W. P. Sayles and Edwin Fifield. The elements of popularity and strength suggested by the names of the new firm were exemplified in the departure which was soon to be made and which has given the city a jewelry house in many respects unequalled in the state.

When the lease of the big Lowell store, corner River and Milwaukee streets was secured, it made possible such a division of space as should exactly suit the requirements of the business. A double front and a corner location made it easy to flood the store with light. A show case scheme for the accommodation of the stock was drafted to scale, and about this the store was built. The result was a show room 41 by 36 feet with 15 foot ceiling, the front and a greater part of one side being plate glass. The cases being French walnut, the decorative scheme was arranged accordingly.

A beam ceiling was put in and stamped steel coping was designed to join ceiling and wall. Aluminum and Empire blue were chosen for the fundamental colorings in the decorations, the walls being panelled and the colors shading away toward the ceiling with beautiful effect. For the decorative work much credit is due to J. F. Hutchinson, while the handling of coping and ceiling beams by E. W. Lowell's force was thoroughly satisfactory. As the decorating neared completion the fitness of the design became more and more apparent. Against the dull greenish blue the walnut cases stood out with accentuated richness. As the contents were put in place the effect was still finer.

To the arrangement of the show cases much thought was given. The cases curve away on either hand from the front door and make almost four sides of a square. There are many little details not to be appreciated by the casual onlooker which add wonderfully to the convenience of customer and salesman. Much more apparent is the effectiveness of design that adds beauty of display at every point. The long cases of silver which stretch from the front and the massing of cut glass in the center of the store gives a brilliancy of ensemble which elicits admiring comment.

A feature which adds greatly to the convenience of the store is the optical room, curtained off in a well lighted corner, for such work as the fitting of glasses, showing of diamonds, etc. Behind the store proper packing rooms and additional storage space is given by the basement, where the heating apparatus is also located.

As said before, the formal opening has been set for Wednesday of this week. Among the new goods that will add interest to the occasion are brilliant displays of unmounted diamonds and opals, including many notable gems. One of the diamonds, weighing nearly five carats is valued at $1000 and is pronounced the most beautiful and perfect stone ever shown in the city. The line of solid silver has been largely augmented for the occasion and an especial feature will be the showing of large pieces in hollow ware such as have never before been carried in this city.

Several new patterns of cut glass help to fill the large plate glass show case in the center of the store, two of the most striking designs being the Thelma, a combination of star and circling cutting, and the Revere, having a pattern that tends more to straight lines. Of onyx tables and art goods in brass there is a variety hardly to be expected outside of Chicago. And not the least interesting of the show cases is that containing novelties in leather goods, pocket books, belts and gate top shopping bags, some done in silk, some in silk and leather.

In every respect, as to beauty of store, fitness of decoration and extent of stock the Hall, Sayles & Fifield opening promises to be in keeping with the reputation of the oldest jewelry store in Wisconsin.

SMITH WILL OWN UP AND GO TO PRISON

TO PLEAD GUILTY TO THE CHARGE MADE.

Man Arrested by Officer Appleby Will Admit That He Robbed the Store at Cookville—Is Broken in Health, and Wants To Leave the Jail—Other Court News.

When Frank Smith appears in court next Saturday morning to answer to the charge of burglarizing Stebbins Bros.' general store at Cookville, he will plead guilty and "take his medicine," which will probably be an alopahic dose—somewhere between one and five years in Waupun.

Broken down in health, and suffering with a severe cold, the prisoner appeared in court this morning. He waived examination and said if he had been given the chance to plead guilty he would have done so rather than spend any more time in the county jail. Smith says that he has been tramping about the country for some time, and has been through harder trials than going to state's prison.

Charged With Drunkenness.

Thomas Coine and William Garigle objected to being charged with being common drunkards in the municipal court today. Coine resides in this city, while McGarigle is a traveling man. Both men, it is claimed, were intoxicated yesterday and Chief Hogan landed them in jail. When their cases were called this morning, both pleaded not guilty. Garigle's case was set for May 4, while Coine will have an opportunity to explain matters tomorrow morning.

Ryan Case Is Dismissed.

When Mrs. Susan Kingsley, who resides at 45 South River street, said that her son, Charles, would not swear in court that he procured liquor at James Ryan's saloon as a minor, she knew what she was talking about, for when the case was called in the municipal court this morning, on motion of District Attorney Jackson, the prosecution was dismissed for the reason that there was no evidence against the defendant.

Barry Seeks a Scheme.

Since Richard Barry's confinement in the county jail, not one member of the Whitelight club have paid him a visit. This, Mr. Barry thinks, is evidence enough that they are plotting against him, and that when his case is called tomorrow morning, the organization will be against him. His aged father visited him yesterday and says that he knows his son is innocent.

Halley Got a Judgment.

By reason of a decision in the municipal court this morning, George Van Etta is to pay the sum of $308. The case was that of W. A. Halley vs. George Van Etta being to collect a note. There was no appearance on the part of the defendant while Smith & Pierce appeared for the plaintiff.

SPAIN'S YOUNG KING.

The Youthful Monarch Delights in Strict Military Discipline.

The education of Alphonso XIII. has a strong military character, like that of his father and his ancestors. It happily gives entire satisfaction to his own inclinations, says the London Spectator. He is exceedingly fond of the army and of everything connected with soldiering. He takes a keen interest in the parades, the barracks and the drills. He is simply delighted whenever his mother takes him to see the cantonments near Madrid and calls him to the balcony of the palace to watch the march pass of the battalions departing for Cuba. When the sentries present arms or the guards turn out as he passes he acknowledges their attentions with the most correct military salute. One of his earliest and pleasantest recollections is the first Twelfth Day levee, exclusively attended by the generals and officers, that he was permitted to witness in the palace. Since that occasion he has always been present on Jan. 6. Last year, for the first time, he wore the uniform of a cadet of the general military academy of Toledo, the Castilian Sandhurst. He appeared in the same uniform at the levees held by the queen regent on his saint's day, San Ildefonso, Jan. 23, and on his birthday, May 17. These are the only state ceremonies, with the opening of the parliament, in which the young king has yet taken part, standing or sitting gravely on his mother's right hand. He has not yet been present at any evening reception or banquets or theatrical performances of any kind, or attended a bull-fight. Much care is taken with his physical training. He has every day half an hour or more of gymnastics and spends about the same time in the riding-school of the palace. He likes horses and riding. Nothing pleases him more than when the queen takes him for a long ride outside Madrid in some of the royal parks. Before he was allowed to have horses he used to ride donkeys. He is very fond of driving a pair of ponies that are kept for his special service. Every afternoon, when the weather permits, he spends a couple of hours in the open air, but is, of course, able to take more exercise and fresh air in San Sebastian during the summer than at Madrid. Last year he enjoyed his sea bathing for the first time, though he can not swim well yet. Fencing is an art he is most anxious to be allowed to learn. Up to the present he has not indulged in cycling, though it is as much the rage in Spain as in any other country. He tried once, at Miramar summer palace, in San Sebastian, a tricycle, which came roughly into contact with stones and caused a slight bruise, without, however, damping his determination to try again. It is said, indeed, that Alphonso XIII. resembles his father in his steadiness of purpose when once he has made up his mind to do anything.

A Frozen Snake for a Cane.

Muncie (Ind.) correspondent of The Indianapolis News: What was intended for a joke came near ending seriously yesterday afternoon for Dr. Orville L. Boor, a veterinary surgeon, who is treasurer of the Indiana Veterinary Graduates' Association. During a severe cold spell, several days ago, he went to the home of Robert A. Johnson, in the country, on a professional call. While there Mr. Johnson found in the snow a black snake frozen stiff and apparently lifeless. He took the reptile to Dr. Boor and said: "Here is a nice walnut cane, carved in the shape of a snake." Dr. Boor took it gratefully and put in his buggy without examining it closely, as he was in a hurry. He put up his horse and buggy in McLean's livery stable, and thought no more of his "cane" until yesterday when he went to his buggy and found a blacksnake coiled on the seat, very angry at being disturbed. His snakeship had thawed out in the warm livery stable, and was apparently as much alive as he ever was. Dr. Boor was frightened and fled precipitately. The snake saw his opportunity and escaped.

Serious Danger

Threatens every man, woman or child living in a region of country where fever and ague is prevalent, since the germs of malarial disease are inhaled from the air and swallowed from the water of such a region. Medicinal safeguard is absolutely necessary to nullify the danger. As a means of fortifying and acclimating the system so as to be able to resist the malarial poison, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is comparatively the best and most popular. Irregularities of the stomach, liver and bowels encourage malarial, but these are speedily rectified by the Bitters. The functions of digestion and secretion are assisted by its use, and a vigorous and regular condition of the system promoted by it. Constipation and phlegm are thus defended against the inroads of malarial by this matchless preventive, which is also a certain and thorough remedy in the worst cases of intermittent and remittent fevers.

ONE SURVIVOR.

The Clergyman Who Married President Hayes Is Still Living.

Near the close of December, 1852, Rutherford B. Hayes was united in marriage to Lucy Webb, says the Toledo Blade. Lucy Webb exerted a wonderful influence over him. She was a refined, religious, fun-loving girl. She was born in Chillicothe and her father was a physician who died at Lexington, Ky., in 1833. The widow, her two sons and daughter came to Delaware because of the educational advantages the town afforded. Here Lucy was instructed preparatory to entering the Wesleyan female college at Cincinnati. A few evenings ago the writer spent a most pleasant hour with the venerable Dr. L. D. McCabe, vice president of the Ohio Wesleyan university. Dr. McCabe is an uncle of Bishop McCabe, better known as Chaplain McCabe. For half a century Dr. McCabe has been connected with the university work in Delaware. Eighty years has he lived and the world is better for it. Now he is old and feeble and the shadows are stretching far toward the east. Sitting in his comfortable home, with a picture of Lucy Webb Hayes hanging on the wall over his chair, he spoke in most glowing terms of her womanly worth. Dr. McCabe performed the marriage ceremony which made Rutherford Hayes and Lucy Webb man and wife, and he also attended their silver wedding, which event took place at the white house in December, 1877. It is also worthy of note that Dr. McCabe journeyed across the state to perform the marriage ceremony for Senator-elect Joseph B. Foraker and wife.

"Lucy Webb was one of the most beautiful characters I have ever been permitted to know," said Dr. McCabe. "Her mother brought her and her brothers here to educate them. At that time girls did not enter the university here, but I was Miss Webb's tutor in preparing her for a female seminary. She was a beautiful young woman, full of fun and just the kind of a girl who would captivate a young man like Hayes. The same qualities of heart she carried with her through life and no woman as first lady of the land or any other position exerted a wider or better influence. I remember well how Hayes and Lucy looked when I married them. Hayes was a splendid looking fellow and in all my years I never united a handsomer couple." Dr. McCabe told an incident which occurred one time when he was visiting the Webb family in Cincinnati. Lucy had a girl friend for a guest and the two girls were in the kitchen washing dishes when Hayes and a young friend called. There was nothing formal about the call, for the young men were invited into the kitchen and the work of washing dishes went right on. The doctor thinks from the sounds which proceeded from the kitchen that the call was no less enjoyed for being informal. Dr. McCabe is now the only person living who was present at that wedding forty-four years ago, but the incidents of that occasion are as fresh in his memory as if they occurred but yesterday.

THE CELESTIAL SERVANT.

Master at a Disadvantage When Dealing with Oriental Subtlety.

At night your "boy" returns to Chinatown, where he sleeps, letting himself in the next morning with a latchkey, which, on hiring, you trustfully confide to him, says Lippincott's. This may seem strange and imprudent to eastern housekeepers, thus leaving your house at the mercy of an unknown, characterless man—for, of course, they never have testimonials; but it is a trust rarely if ever abused—a fact which speaks favorably for the celestials. Generally they demand and receive large wages. We had one, however, at the modest sum of $10 per month, who was an excellent cook, excelling in bread and cake making but with a truly execrable temper. He was always muttering and growling to himself as he went about his work. Besides cooking he had to set and wait upon the table, sweep the lower rooms (we attended to the bedrooms) and occasionally wash the windows. At times he would break out into what we supposed was intended for singing, but anything more harsh and unmusical I have never heard. Can the Chinese if at such times we rang for more than anything as our being late for meals or people dropping in for lunch. It at such times we rang for more bread and cake, after a sufficiently lengthy interval, to impress upon us the fact of his displeasure and to ponder on our greediness he would flounce in, scowl at us as he snatched up the plate, mutter very audibly to his mistress: "No makee cakee, too cheap, two dollars and a half"—which was somewhat embarrassing for both hostess and guest. Our patience eventually gave out and we dismissed the amiable creature, who departed for once all smiles, with his wages and apron, leaving behind his latchkey, and in all probability a description of the place, written where it would attract the notice of the newcomer, though invisible or, at any rate, unintelligible to us. This is a favorite practice of theirs and serves either to encourage or to warn away applicants; if the latter, your path will be a thorny one for some time to come and "boys" will prove many and fleeting, much to your wonder and perplexity. You will find yourself at very unusual odds when dealing with oriental subtlety and spite.

Americans are the most inventive people on earth. To them have been issued nearly 600,000 patents, or more than one third of all the patents issued in the world. No discovery of modern years has been of greater benefit to mankind than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, or has done more to relieve pain and suffering. J. W. Vaughn, of Oakton Ky., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in my family for several years, and find it to be the best medicine I ever used for cramps in the stomach and bowels. For sale at C. D. Stevens' Pharmacy, corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

Mrs. A. Inveen, residing at 720 Henry street Alton, Ill., suffered with sciatic rheumatism for over eight months. She doctored for it nearly the whole of this time, using various remedies recommended by friends, and was treated by the physicians, but received no relief. She then used one and a half bottles of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which effected a complete cure. This is published at her request as she wants others similarly afflicted to know what cured her. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale at C. D. Stevens' Pharmacy, corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

Two years ago, R. J. Warren, a druggist at Pleasant Brook, N. Y., bought a small supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He sums up the result as follows: "At that time the goods were unknown in this section; today Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a household word." It is the same to hundreds of communities wherever the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy become known the people will have nothing else. For sale at C. D. Stevens' Pharmacy, corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

ARCHIE REID & CO.

GRAY AND SILVER.

I had a love. Dark haired was she.
Her eyes were gray.
For sake of her across the sea
I sailed away.

Death, sickness, tempest and defeat
All passed me by.
With years came fortune, fair and fleet,
And rich was I.

Again for me the sun looked down
Familiar skies.
I found my love. Her locks had grown
Gray as her eyes.

"Alas," she sighed, "forget me, now
No longer fair!"
"I loved thy heart," I whispered low,
"And not thy hair."
—C. E. D. Phelps in New York Tribune.

THE BROKEN KEY.

The young and pretty bride felt worried and out of sorts. Only a short eight weeks ago she married her dear Gus, and had followed him to his home in W., and already he had begun to neglect her, to go out of an evening and to leave her alone in the big house. He had tried to convince her that he could not altogether neglect his former friends and companions and that she ought not to object to his meeting them on two evenings every week and to pass an agreeable hour or two in their company over a friendly game of whist, but she simply did not comprehend how he could enjoy himself without her; how he could ever think of going anywhere without taking her along.

"Oh, the dreadful evenings I have to spend!" she complained, with tears in her eyes. "I am obliged to sit here all alone because I have as yet had no chance to form any acquaintances here. Naturally I get homesick. Often I feel like leaving everything and taking the train home to my parents."

"Would it not be better, darling, if you went to bed and tried to sleep?" "That is just where the trouble is," she replied, still in tears. "I am afraid. Our servant sleeps way up in the attic. She would not even hear were anything to happen to me."

"Why you foolish child, what is there to be afraid of? What is going to happen?" "Are not the papers every day full of burglaries and robberies?" she persisted. "Think of the many strangers that flock to a well known health resort like this. Nothing is impossible under such circumstances."

The husband looked thoughtfully at his sweet bride.

"No, dear; I do not want you to frighten yourself into illness. I promise you herewith of my own free will"—the poor fellow could not help heaving a sigh as he said this—"to return promptly at 11 o'clock whenever I go to meet my friends. It is impossible for me to withdraw myself from their society altogether, for they would ridicule and make fun of me and call me hee-hee. Burglars rarely put in their appearance before the hour of 11, the streets being full of life and traffic. Goodbye, darling, and please do not feel lonesome."

Annie sighed and submitted resignedly to her fate. She read awhile. She then took up her embroidery, a present for her mother. She played a game of solitaire, and finally she paced restlessly up and down the room. At home there had been a large family circle; hence it was very trying to her to be left so much to herself in her new surroundings.

At 10 o'clock even the familiar noises in the kitchen ceased, for the servant had gone up stairs to her attic, and the poor woman felt the old feeling of distress and fright creep over her. The sitting room was located at the rear of the house, and there was a hallway between it and the front rooms. She therefore could not hear the usual noises. A deathlike silence reigned in the room. Tired and yet excited, she threw herself on the lounge. She sadly reflected why beerhouses and card parties had been called into existence. By and by her thoughts became more and more confused, and she fell into a sound slumber.

It was 11:05 o'clock when Gus arrived breathlessly and posthaste at his house door and tried to fit his key into the lock.

Poor fellow! Had evil spirits conspired to get him into trouble? Click—the key broke in two, and the bit stuck fast in the keyhole, handle and barrel alone remaining in his hands.

He knocked, he called, he knocked again and louder—for unfortunately there was no house bell; all in vain. "I hardly think my wife has retired as early as this," he reflected, "but of course she is in the sitting room, and most likely she cannot hear me." Once more he knocked, this time very loud. He called until his voice was hoarse; no reply.

To fill his cup of misery to the brim it commenced to rain, and he was without an umbrella.

"Perhaps Annie has gone to bed after all," he thought, shivering and dripping wet. "Shall I go to a hotel? No! What would the people think! The only place that I know of that may still be open is the railway depot, for there is a train arriving at midnight."

He went down the street in a pouring rain and at last found himself in the waiting room of the station.

"A glass of beer, sir?" asked an enterprising waiter. Gus shook himself. He felt chilly. "Punch," he said, "and make it hot!" He drank one glass and then another and still another to while away the time. He was the only person there. In due time the last train had arrived, and he could stay no longer. They were about to close up.

In sheer desperation he looked at his watch.

It was 1 o'clock when he emerged into the street, and it had ceased to rain. The full moon seemed to grin and wink at him maliciously through the clouds, as though she meant to say: "See, old man, it serves you right. Why must you go out to play cards and leave your wife at home in loneliness?"

In spite of the repeated potatoes he still felt chilly. "There is no help for it but a good run," he said to himself, starting on a lively trot through the city, first down one street, then up another, through the suburbs, until he reached the open country and back again without stop or rest for fear of catching cold.

The town clock struck the hour of 4. "It is still too early to get into the house," he said. "The front door is never unlocked before 6 o'clock. Will they be able to unlock the door anyway? A piece of my key sticks in the lock. The women are imprisoned and cannot get out. But now I can stand this no longer. I must have something hot to drink and sit down somewhere. There is a train at 4 o'clock." And forthwith he once more wended his way to the railroad depot.

A snug corner and a cup of hot coffee somewhat restored him. But he was very tired, and pretty soon he was as sound asleep in his corner as his wife had been the night before on her lounge.

And how did his wife fare? She awoke in the middle of the night with a start, almost frightened out of her wits by a horrid dream, in which her husband had appeared before her, wounded, bleeding and torn by huge bloodhounds. Pretty soon, however, she comprehended the situation. Her face bathed in tears, she paced restlessly up and down the room, wringing her hands. "Oh, the wretch! To stay out all night! Just to think of it! Such a man has the effrontery to talk to me of love. Not content to act like a villain, he even had to make fun of me last night by pretending he would henceforth be home at 11 o'clock. Who would ever have thought him so base? They close the beerhouse after midnight; hence he cannot pretend to be playing cards there all night. Heaven only knows where he is spending the night, in whose company he is enjoying himself, while I—But he'll find that I am not his dupe. I shall leave him at once. There is a train at 7 o'clock in the morning which I am going to take and go home to my parents."

At 5 o'clock she called the serving maid, whom she sent to the garret for a valise and commenced to pack. The maid said nothing, and she was surprised that her master had not risen and did not help his wife. However, she made the coffee and went after a cab.

The front door was wide open and a locksmith busy with the big lock when Annie appeared in the hall. The landlady ran to meet her, exclaiming in a hurry of excitement: "Did you hear about it, madam? A thief was here last night and made an attempt to enter the house. Some one must have frightened him off. He left a broken key stuck fast in the lock, and was unable to unlock the door. I had to call from the window until I aroused a neighbor, who ran for a locksmith. Now I am going to have a patent lock put on and spoil their little game. But you look very pale, my dear madam. I am sorry to have frightened you with my burglar story. Are you going to take a ride so early this morning?"

Annie nodded and passed on. She was glad that the woman had not seen her valise, which her maid had already put into the cab.

"What a narrow escape I had last night! How near I came being robbed—perhaps worse!" She was now thoroughly angry. So much more reason for leaving the fellow, no matter what the consequences! "For the present I shall remain with my parents." Thus musing, she arrived at the depot.

Before purchasing her ticket she intended to leave her valise in the waiting room. Annie entered and made for an empty table, when suddenly she dropped the valise and almost screamed aloud. Wasn't that her husband, "her" Gus, sitting there in a corner and snoring loud enough to make everybody in the room smile at his nasal powers? He looked tired and worn, and his garments appeared damp. How did he get here, and why was he in such a dilapidated condition? She stood for a moment undecided and unable to take her eyes off his drawn, worn-out features.

Suddenly the sleeper opened his eyes. Whatever the outcome, she must avoid a scene in a public room. Anything but that. The waiters had more than once looked wonderingly at the man who had drunk three cups of coffee and then fallen asleep hours ago. Annie tried to appear quite unconcerned and took a seat beside her husband. Somehow her anger had suddenly vanished.

"Oh, darling, what brought me—I mean rather what brought you—here?" he asked, astonished at the unexpected appearance of his wife dressed for a journey.

"Never mind, dear. Don't bother about that now," she whispered. "Come, let us ride home, where I will explain all."

Gus acquiesced in silence. His feet felt heavy and hardly able to carry his weight. He was sick. All he could do was to drag himself to a cab.

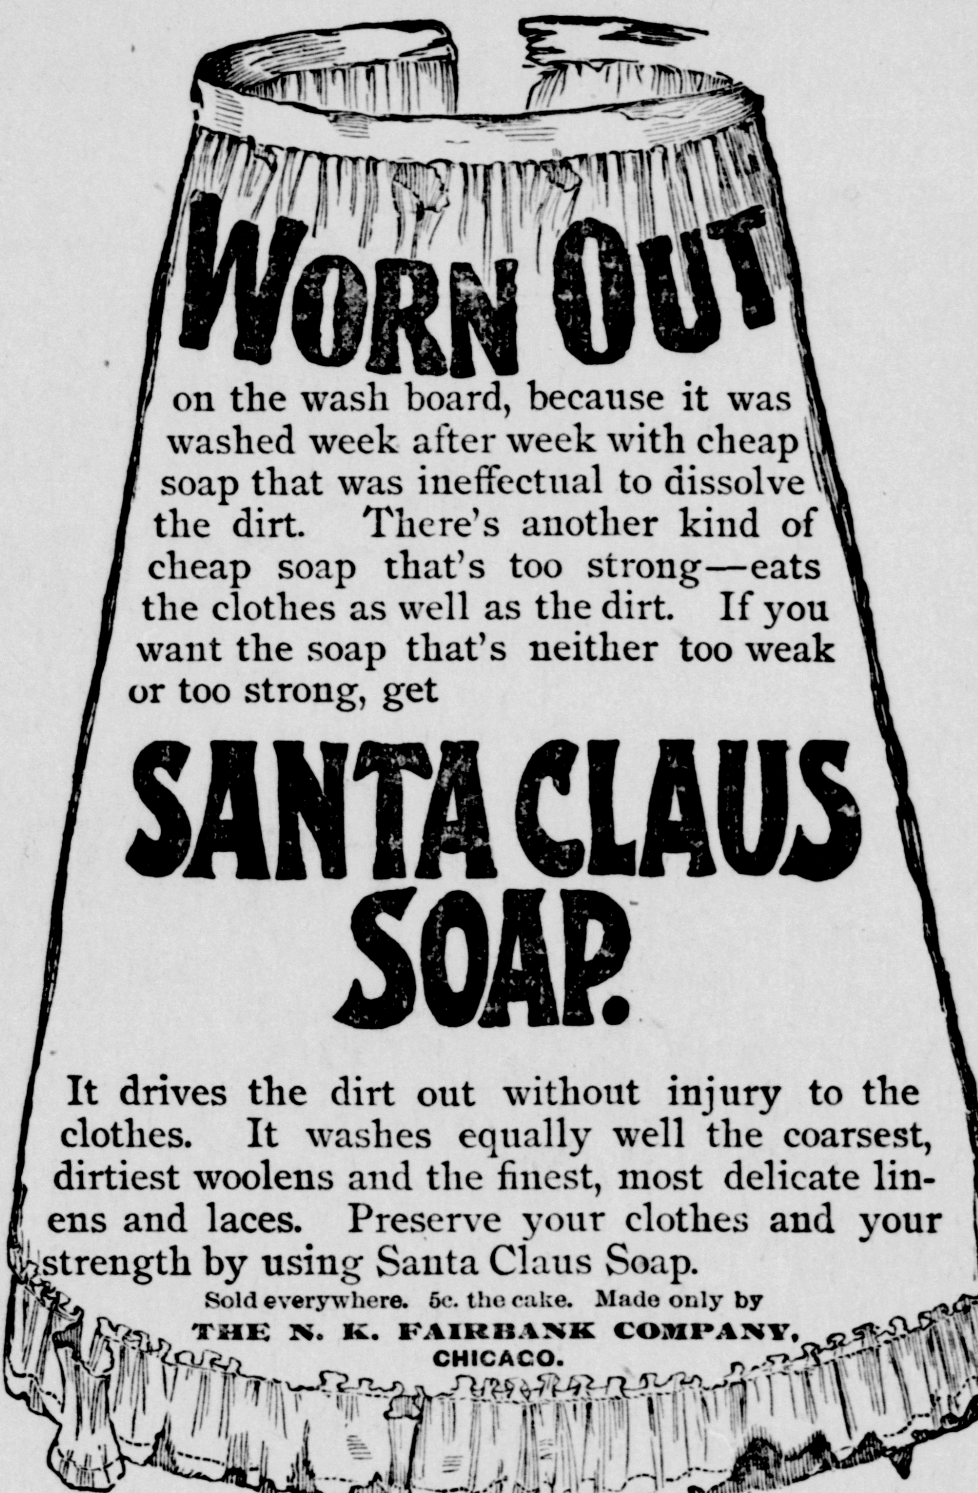

And then explanations were in order. Annie had no reason to doubt her husband's narration of his adventures during the night, and what the landlady had told her about the broken key tended to corroborate and exonerate him. But he could not quite make out from her explanations what had taken her to the railway station. He was, however, too ill to ask many questions.

Arrived at home, she simply told the astonished servant that "they had changed their mind and would not go away because her husband, who had preceded her to the depot, had been suddenly taken sick," and sent her after a physician.

Gus was very sick. For two weeks he could not leave his bed. A complicated and aggravated attack of influenza was the result of his experience during that ill fated night.

Annie never left his bedside, and now it was her great care and tireless, devoted nursing that opened his eyes as to the depth and unselfishness of her great love for him.

At last Gus got well, and though he would now and then go to have a social game of whist his wife never again doubted him, even if he staid out later than 11.—From the German.

Negros All Leave Town.
Ardmore, I. T., April 26.—As a result of the warning given to all the negroes in the town of Davis last week by a mob of masked men, not a colored man remains in the town. The federal grand jury, which was called together by Judge Kilgore to investigate the outrages, examined a small army of witnesses, but reported that it had been impossible to identify any of the raiders. The murder of a white man by a negro was the preliminary cause of the trouble at Davis.
